

THE LINDY CENTER FOR CIVIC ENGAGEMENT

The Lindy Center for Civic Engagement encourages all Drexel students to take part in public service in a way that enhances their learning and contributes to the broader civic life. The Lindy Center partners with community-based organizations, local schools, and government offices to connect students with local, national, and global service projects.

All first-year students participate in at least one service activity through the first-year experience course and are invited to do more. Students can become involved through a variety of other ways during the year or search through opportunities listed in the Lindy Center's service database. The Lindy Center also supports student leaders in several long-term public service commitments, including:

- Drexel Community Scholars
- Lindy Scholars Program
- College Access Fellows
- Community Interns
- America Reads America Counts Tutors
